A passion for helping people get the care they need.

Are you caring for an aging or disabled loved one? Do you have a plan of care for health, legal and financial concerns? Are you overwhelmed trying to understand the healthcare system? Are you unsure about the benefits or resources available?

Diversified Nurse Consultants is here to help. We are a company founded by nurses, with a passion for helping clients and their care-givers navigate today's complicated healthcare system.

Our experienced team of registered nurses provides comprehensive care management and home safety assessment services throughout Kentucky and Indiana.

How do we do it? First, we evaluate each client based on medical, safety, social and financial concerns. Then we recommend a plan of care and work with you to put it into place. We advocate for the client with insurers, healthcare providers and others. And we monitor client progress so that the care plan can be updated as needs change.

Unlike other companies, we have a wealth of experience in healthcare. And unlike others, our consultants are all Registered Nurses.

CHOICES: Senior Housing Alternatives for the Greater Louisville Area was first printed in 1993, and has been a valuable community resource for those individuals, families and professionals searching for appropriate housing for seniors. I am very happy to present my fifth update of this guide.

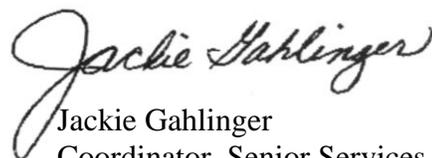

This newest edition has changed somewhat from previous formats. Similar housing options are grouped together, such as: Assisted Living/Memory Care/Personal Care, Short and Long Term Care Facilities, and Independent Living Apartments. Only contact information is provided for subsidized apartments in Jefferson County and for all listings in Kentucky Surrounding Counties, and in Southern Indiana. Also, prices listed are intended as a guide only. They are not guaranteed to reflect current prices, which often change after information has been gathered. Contacting the facility directly is the best way to get the most up-to-the-minute information.

Definitions of Terms and Concepts are listed on page 4. Senior services are always evolving as new offerings become available. It could be helpful and time saving to spend a few minutes going over these terms to ensure that you understand those that are used throughout the listings.

As in past editions, all listing are provided free of charge to the facilities. Our printing costs are paid by generous advertisers. We could not offer this booklet to the community without these advertisers' support. Please patronize and thank those listed below for their participation whenever you have the opportunity.

Stay or Relocate?

How to use this CHOICES booklet

Whether you or someone you are trying to help is living in a house or apartment or with a family member or friend, there may come a time when a move may be considered. Often, this decision has to be made in the midst of a crisis. For example, a change in housing may be considered after a safety or lifestyle issue raises awareness about the value of living in a setting designed for seniors; or after the death of a spouse or other loved one; or as the result of a change in one's health.

Some questions for the person thinking of a move to answer:

- Why is a move being considered?
- Has a doctor or someone told you that a move is needed?
- Would you like help with meals or taking care of your home?
- Can you dress, bathe, take care of your toileting needs and move about independently?
- Do you manage your own medications or could you use some help or reminders?
- What are the costs involved and will your resources meet these costs?

The answers to those questions will help you to decide what "level of care" is needed. Pages 5 and 6 here in CHOICES may help you to better understand housing possibilities. A doctor or social worker also is a good source for recommendations. Once you have a better idea about what is needed, then you can begin to consider whether it would be best to stay in the same location or relocate.

You may want to ask follow-up questions:

- How would I find and afford the services I might need if I stayed or moved?
- Would a move cause me to lose contact with the people and activities that are a part of my support system?
- Could my current location or a new one provide more "Universal Design" features? (See page 4 for safety, convenience and comfort features.)

CHOICES was designed to clearly show you what level of care each location provides. At the top of each column just under the name, address and phone numbers, you will see a descriptive category for that listing. For example, it may say Independent Senior Housing, Assisted Living, Personal Care, or Short & Long Term Care. These descriptions will help you to find the level of care and affordability you need.

CHOICES provides general information for housing options in the Greater Louisville area. We hope that the zip code maps and the alphabetical listing of locations will be helpful in your selection process. Everyone has different preferences and needs. Each listing will provide you with basic details on each location. We advise calling any of interest to you to check for information updates. A tour is always the best way to see if a place is appropriate for you.

You may want to ask questions about how the location operates:

- What kind of kitchen facilities, if any, would you have in your room or be able to access?
- Can you take your own furniture? If not, what do they supply?
- Is there a central dining room? How many, if any, meals are provided?
- Are the common areas pleasant and well-maintained?
- Can the location meet your special needs?
- Can you continue with your own doctor?
- Does the site respect Advance Directives (Living Will etc.)?
- Is staff available 24 hours a day, seven days a week?
- Talk with the residents: Are there activities planned? Are there certain activities you really enjoy doing and would you have access?

You also want to be sure to ask about services and how you would pay:

- Does it accept whatever payer source you have (i.e. Medicare, Medicaid or private insurance)?
- Is the site licensed or certified?
- In the case of personal care or nursing facilities, ask to see the latest state survey by Licensing & Regulation. This will give you an idea of any problems which may have been identified.
- Read the lease or contract carefully. What is included in the monthly fee? What are the additional expenses? What is involved if you need to move?

We made an effort to include all of the senior facilities with which we were familiar. This booklet, however, is not an exhaustive list. You may want to consult local magazines, phone directories or the internet for other listings. For information on apartments for seniors in other areas, call Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116.

Universal Design Features Allow Seniors to “Age in Place”

Many seniors are faced with moving to long-term care because their homes are no longer “user friendly.” Staying in your own home is a good possibility if you plan for future health issues by incorporating features of Universal Design into your current or new home. The purpose of Universal Design is to promote safety, convenience and comfort, and to minimize home accidents to people of all ages. For many people, it allows them to stay in their own home for their entire life.

Safety features include:

- No-step entryways
- Slip-resistant flooring in kitchens and baths
- Offset water controls on showers and tubs decrease risk of burns
- Balanced lighting that reduces glare and decreases shadows
- Front-loading washer and dryer to minimize strains and injuries
- Integral or portable tub seat for relaxed, safe bathing.

Some convenience features include:

- Entry door at least 36” wide
- Interior doors 32-36” wide
- Hallways 48” wide allow ease of movement of large objects.

Comfort features include:

- Switches and thermostats less than 48” above floor
- Electrical outlets more than 15” above floor to reduce bending
- Removable cabinet fronts at sink
- Varied counter heights to serve seated, tall, or short people
- Lever faucet handles and loop style cabinet handles for ease of use.

Definitions

Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) – Basic ADLs include dressing, eating, walking, transferring, toileting and personal grooming. There are also Instrumental Activities (IADLs) such as shopping, meal preparation, housekeeping, medication management and bill paying.

Adult Protective Services (APS) - Provides voluntary protective and supportive social services to disabled adults who are self-neglectful, abused, neglected, exploited, or victims of domestic violence.

Area Agency on Aging - Administers federal and state funds for senior services, Meals on Wheels, senior centers, adult day care, etc. Also provides home care services, caregiver support services, transportation, Grandparents Raising Grandchildren program, and consumer directed options. In Kentucky, KIPDA (502-266-5571) serves Jefferson, Shelby, Oldham, Henry, Trimble, Spencer and Bullitt Counties. LINCOLN TRAIL (270-769-2393) serves Hardin, Nelson, Meade, Larue, Marion and Washington Counties. In Indiana, LifeSpan Resources, Inc (888-948-8330) serves Scott, Clark, Floyd and Harrison Counties.

Assisted Living – Residents may receive assistance, if needed, with basic activities of daily living (ADLs), (see separate definition), 2-3 meals per day, social activities inside and outside the community, and housekeeping and laundry services. Residents usually have their own studio or one bedroom apartment which can vary in size and amenities. Private pay or long-term care insurance is the usual pay source for fees averaging $3,500-$5,000 per month. In Kentucky, assisted living is a non-medical program therefore only medication reminders can be given by staff. In Indiana, medications can be dispensed and managed by licensed staff.

Continuum of Care Retirement Community – A range of care from private homes and apartments with no services to skilled care on site. One can be completely independent; have supportive assistance such as housekeeping, laundry and meals; access an area that will be able to provide personal care when frail; and receive skilled care when nursing services are needed.

Family Care Home – Provides 24-hour protective and personal care for no more than three persons. Contact LTC Ombudsman at 1-800-372-2991 in Kentucky or 1-800-622-4484 in Indiana.

Housing Authority – Offers a variety of housing options for seniors including rental assistance through the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Section 8 program with vouchers or at site-based locations, or public housing. Many people are income eligible to pay no more than 30% of their adjusted incomes for their rent. Contact the Louisville Metro Housing Authority at 569-6060 for the Section 8 program and 569-3400 for details on public housing.

Independent Senior Housing – This includes individual homes or apartments for seniors who can live on their own without help with their activities of daily living. Some locations may offer activities, laundry facilities, transportation and access to some meals. Some also will accept residents who are 55 years of age or even younger with a disability.

In-Home Services – Seniors may receive services in their own home to enable them to continue to live independently. These may be available with state assistance or as private pay through a local business. Services may include tasks such as: bathing assistance, meals, housekeeping, laundry, shopping and errands. Call your Area Agency on Aging for details.

Long Term Care (LTC) Ombudsman Program – A federally mandated program that gives nursing home residents a voice to the outside community to solve problems and improve their quality of life. If you have a question or want to register a complaint about the quality of care given by a long term care facility, call:
Kentucky 1-800-372-2991 Indiana – 1-800-622-4484

Personal Care – This level of care gives residents access to 24-hour nursing care, although often in a more homelike setting. Most care of this level is provided in a freestanding community not associated with a nursing home. The community usually focuses on a particular specialty population such as residents with Alzheimer's/Dementia (memory care) or mental illness.

Senior Move Manager – Provides a variety of services to help with sorting, packing, move coordination, unpacking, and estate dispersal for seniors and their families.
www.nasmm.org

Short and Long Term Care – Residents have access to 24-hour full nursing care. Short-term usually means that admission is for rehabilitation through physical, occupational or speech therapies and the resident intends to return back home. Long Term Care typically means nursing home care for the remainder of the person's life. Levels of care are classified as:

Skilled Care (SC) – Provides 24-hour nursing care for patients with critical care needs. Rehabilitation therapies also are available.

Rehabilitation (Rehab) – Short term care and therapies to enable the individual to return home.

Levels of Care in Senior Living

Independent Living, Assisted Living or Nursing Facility—how do you know which level of care is appropriate for you or your loved one? The chart below can be helpful in determining what care level you want to consider.

Place a checkmark in the column that best describes assistance needed:

Level of Assistance Needed For:	Full Assistance Needed	Some Assistance Needed	No Assistance Needed
Eating
Meal Prep
Dressing
Personal Grooming
Bathing/Showering
Toileting
Laundry
Housekeeping
Walking/Mobility
Taking Medications
Shopping
Driving
Attending Church/ Social Activities
Paying Bills/ Financial Management

If you checked mostly:

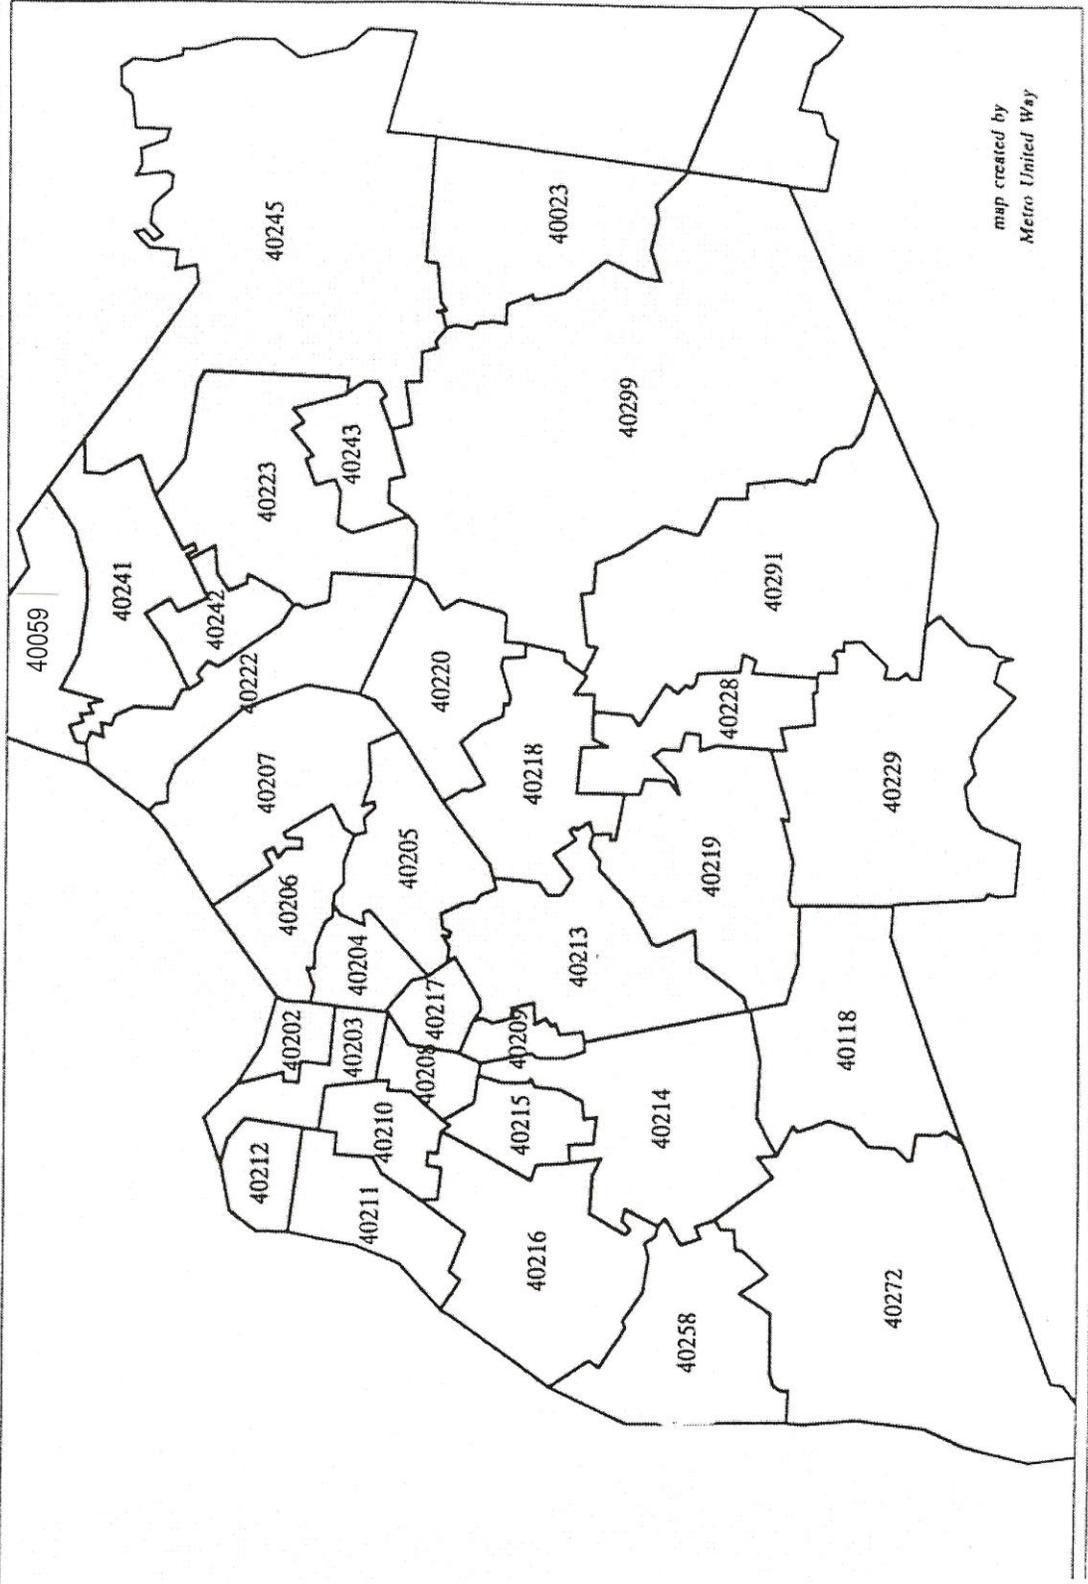

“No Assistance Needed,” living independently, with or without intermittent, in-home services, may be the best choice.

“Some Assistance Needed,” Assisted Living may be most appropriate.

“Full Assistance Needed,” a Nursing Facility, or continuous in-home care, may be the best decision.

Belmont Village has set the standard for Senior Living in Louisville for years. From the ground up the community's senior-focused design includes award-winning interiors, exceptional amenities and a great location in St. Matthews.

Residents receive a high quality of care and services from carefully trained staff, and licensed nurses are on duty around the clock to administer medications. The Person Center Living (SM) programs are designed for individuals with Alzheimer's and other dementias. Individuals with mild cognitive impairment may participate in a specialized, research-based program of daily activities designed to promote brain health and slow the progression of dementia-The Circle of Friends. For those residents with dementia who need a secure daily living environment, The Neighborhood offers a more structured program provided by specially trained staff in a separate area of the community.

SUBSIDIZED INDEPENDENT LIVING

SUBSIDIZED LIVING INFORMATION

In Louisville most subsidized senior housing is administered by the Housing Urban Development (HUD) program and is designed for those who can live independently. Eligibility is determined by age – those 62 and over, and by income (including, but not limited to, pensions, retirement accounts, IRAs, insurance annuities, bank accounts and tangible assets such as real estate, cars, etc.) Usually, rent (which includes utilities) is 30% of monthly adjusted income. Medical and prescription expenses may be included in the calculations in qualifying situations.
